2. Start a discussion thread with a link to the article by Tuesday, 8/28. Bring up some interesting points from the article or ask some interesting questions, in order to facilitate discussion. Some things that might make for good discussion points:
  - What did you learn from the article, especially if you didn't expect it?
  - What did you notice about the author's view of AI?
  - What might an uninformed reader assume about AI?
  - What might the impact of this article be on public opinion of AI?
  - How could this article be re-written to better inform readers?
3. Read 2 other posts, including the article that is linked, and participate in the discussion on that post by Thursday, 8/30.
